About This Content

It's that time of year where humans celebrate the special holiday known as "Christmas". This year however, is different. It is the first year that mankind has a group of special guests from another world.

What will the visitors from the Galactic Foxian Empire do in this holy night?

This is another short silly side story made in a few days. It is non-canon, though it would take place sometime during Chapter 5 of the main game.
